INT. HOSPITAL - PATIENT ROOM - DAY

ROBERT HASTING, 35, brown hair, brown eyes, with a friar tuck hairstyle sits in his hospital bed. He wears a dark green hospital gown and is reading a science fiction novel. The novel sports the image of a flying saucer on the cover.

His family stands around him. With him are his WIFE, early 30s and his DAUGHTER, age 11.

At the head of his bed, there are many different colored balloons embroidered with GET WELL SOON.

There is sound of a NEWS REPORT coming through the television but is MUFFLED in the background.

The curtains are drawn to eliminate a lot of the bright sunlight from coming into the room.

Robert's wife is reading a medical magazine.

WIFE

Are you sure about this procedure?

Robert closes his book and looks up at his wife, who is staring back at him with a concerned look on her face.

ROBERT

Relax, they're doctors. How bad can it be?

WIFE

But what if something goes wrong?

Now DR. FORAY, early 50s, grey hair, enters the room.

DR. FORAY

Mr. Hasting?

ROBERT

Yes.

DR. FORAY

Hi, I'm Doctor Foray. How are you feeling?

ROBERT

Could be better.

DR. FORAY

I bet you could. You know, you're very fortunate to have come to us when you did.

Robert nods while the doctor speaks to him.

DR. FORAY

With your rare condition, no other hospital in the country would have the tools to treat your condition. Be lucky we caught it when we did.

ROBERT

I'm still trying to wrap my head around this new rare condition. I've never heard of it before.

DR. FORAY

That's what makes it new. Think of it like mad cow disease except that we can get rid of it a lot easier. Are you ready to go into surgery now?

ROBERT

Yes.

The doctor waves his hand towards the window and 2 NURSES come in from the hallway to roll Robert out of the hospital room.

INT. HOSPITAL - HALLWAY

The nurses and the doctor roll Robert down the hallway. As Robert is being rolled down the hallway, he looks left and notices a mirror on the wall next to the receptionist desk.

They roll just a little ways to 2 big double doors. Next to the door, there is a window and a sign next to the door that reads OPERATING ROOM.

Robert is rolled into the operating room.

INT. HOSPITAL - OPERATING ROOM

The nurses stop him in the center of the room. Above Robert are 2 giant lights that shine down upon him.

One of the nurses walks off and returns with an anesthetic tank hooked up to a plastic mask set.

She hands the mask to the doctor who has just placed a mask over his nose and mouth as well as a surgical cap.

DR. FORAY

We're going to start the anesthesia.

Robert nods as the doctor places the mask over Robert's face.

INT. HOSPITAL - OPERATING ROOM (3 HOURS LATER)

As Robert wakes up, he notices...ALIEN hospital staff.

The operating room staff are now very greyish, wrinkled looking alien like creatures with huge heads.

Robert struggles to break free as the nurses hold him down. On his chest, there is a stitched up line going right down the center of his chest.

As Robert breaks free, he makes a dash for the door but stops as Dr. Foray speaks.

DR. FORAY

Where do you think you're going
Robert?

Robert looks back at the alien looking doctor with a very confused look.

DR. FORAY

There's a whole hospital full of us.
You're not going anywhere.

Robert stops to ponder for a moment, but then decides to go ahead and rush out of the door.

INT. HOSPITAL - HALLWAY

As Robert pushes his way out of the doors of the operating room, he looks around and notices that everyone else in the hospital are aliens as well.

There are RECEPTIONISTS behind the receptionist desk. There are SECURITY GUARDS walking the hallways. There are PEOPLE with little CHILDREN standing at the receptionist desk. All aliens.

Robert looks surprised. He suddenly leans over holding his stomach. He hears everyone LAUGHING at him.

Without realizing it, he starts to laugh hysterically.

Robert looks down at his hands and sees that they have turned grey. Robert looks into the mirror next to the receptionist desk and sees that he has changed into an alien himself. He drops to his knees and SCREAMS.

INT. HOSPITAL - PATIENT ROOM - DAY

Suddenly, Robert rises up from his bed in a SCREAM. He looks at his arms and inside his gown at his chest. He looks around at the family that is present at his bedside.

Just then, the doctor comes in.

DR. FORAY

Mr. Hasting?

ROBERT

Yes, and you're Dr. Foray!

DR. FORAY

That's right. You know, you're lucky you came to us when you did.

Robert gets out of bed and grabs his wife's hand

ROBERT

Come on, we're leaving. I suddenly don't feel comfortable here anymore. I wanna go to a different hospital.

Robert grabs his daughter's hand as well and they make their way out the door.

As they leave the room, Robert looks back into the room and hears the AUDIO of the news broadcast on the television.

NEWS REPORTER (V.O.)
Flying saucers have just destroyed the white house...

The broadcast continues but becomes gradually more MUFFLED.

FADE OUT:

THE END!
