INT. MOVIE SET - LIVING ROOM - DAY

A MAN and WOMAN share a kiss. The DIRECTOR stands near a camera, recording the action.

DIRECTOR

Cut!

The actors stop what they're doing. The CREW mills about.

STEPHEN DORFF, (40) messy hair and facial stubble, emerges from behind the Living Room set.

DORFF

They say the best things in life are free.

Dorff reaches into his jeans pocket, removes a box of Blu E-cigs. Walks past the director.

In the background, the Director, out of sheer bemusement, turns to the PRODUCTION ASSISTANT.

DIRECTOR

(To P.A.)

Who is this guy?

Dorff continues onward.

DORFF

But that's not true. Nothing's free.

(Sighs)

I wish it was 'cause gas prices are going back up and I gotta make the rent payment this week. But the feeling you get with Blu E-cigs is pretty close.

Dorff walks off set, stops at a catering table.

DORFF

With Blu, I can smoke almost anywhere. That's because it's vapor and not tobacco smoke...

He scopes out the table of treats.

DORFF

...which means you're free to do as you please.

Dorff grabs a frosting-covered donut. The director approaches, confused.

DIRECTOR
Uh, 'scuse me?

Dorff looks up, smiles. Takes a long drag, exhales.

DORFF
(Chuckles) Heh. I guess the best things in life are free after all.

He takes a large bite of the donut.
